

REFERENCES

1. Smart H. Preventing facial pressure injury for health care providers adhering to COVID-19 personal protective equipment requirements. Adv Skin Wound Care 2020;33(8):418-27.
2. Bourkas AN, Zaman M, Sibbald RG. COVID-19 and hospital-acquired pressure injuries: a systematic review. ASWC, 2023.
3. Delmore B, Deppisch M, Cox J et al. Necessary products for the prevention and treatment of pressure injuries: lessons learned that translate beyond the COVID-19 pandemic. Adv Skin Wound Care 2023;36:361-9.
4. Myers L, Karp S (2015) Beginner's Guide to Measuring Educational Outcomes in CEhp: sources of data in CE. Alliance for Continuing Education in the Health Professions. Almanac. 2015;37(2). <https://www.acc.org/-/media/Non-Clinical/Files-PDFs-Excel-MS-Word-etc/Meetings/2017/Course-PDFs/Emerging-Faculty/Supplemental-Docs/1-Sources-of-Data-in-CE.pdf>. Last accessed September 11, 2023.
5. Narayan KMV, Zhang P, Kanaya AM, et al. Diabetes: the pandemic and potential solutions. In: Jamison DT, Breman JG, Measham AR, Alleyne G, Claeson M, Evans DB, et al, ed. Disease Control Priorities in Developing Countries. 2nd ed Washington, DC: World Bank; 2006, p 591-603.
6. World Health Organization. First-ever global coverage targets for diabetes adopted at the 75th World Health Assembly. 2002. <https://www.who.int/news-room/feature-stories/detail/first-ever-global-coverage-targets-for-diabetes-adopted-atthe-75-th-world-health-assembly>. Last accessed September 11, 2023.
7. Wilkinson E. World Health Assembly ratifies first global diabetes targets. Lancet Diabetes Endocrinol 2022;10(8):560.
8. Ewen M, Joosse H, Beran D, et al. Insulin prices, availability, and affordability in 13 low-income and middle-income countries. BMJ Global Health 2019;4: e001410.
9. Kodange, C. Screening for depression in patients with chronic wounds. Adv Skin Wound Care 2021;34(9):502-3.