A.1. Definitions

Chronic kidney disease (CKD) as included in the Global Burden of Disease (GBD) 2013 Study includes estimates for renal replacement therapy (maintenance dialysis and kidney transplantation) and the three most advanced categories of CKD as defined by Kidney Disease Outcomes Quality Initiative: CKD category 3 (glomerular filtration rate (GFR) 30-59 ml/min/1.73m²), CKD category 4 (GFR 15-29 ml/min/1.73m²), and CKD category 5 (GFR<15ml/min/1.73m², non-dialysis). The exposure categories of low glomerular filtration rate (GFR) are the same as those for CKD categories 3-5.

Data sources

All data that informed GBD estimates for CKD categories 3-5 were obtained through systematic literature reviews for years 1980-2013, most of which were from community-based surveys. Studies were included that contained original data on prevalence of GFR category 3, 4, or 5.

Studies were excluded that were not representative of the national population (e.g. pregnant women, military, etc.), that were not population-based (e.g. single-clinic-based studies), that provided no original data (e.g. commentary piece), that were based on a sample size less than 150, or that were reviews of accessible papers with original data (Supplemental Table 4). Citations for data that informed the CKD models are available through the on-line epidemiology visualization tool “EpiViz” located here: (<http://vizhub.healthdata.org/epi/>).

The methods for other metabolic risk factors are described in the publication Collaborators GBD, Forouzanfar MH, Alexander L, Anderson HR, Bachman VF, Biryukov S, et al. Global, regional, and national comparative risk assessment of 79 behavioural, environmental and occupational, and metabolic risks or clusters of risks in 188 countries, 1990-2013: a systematic analysis for the Global Burden of Disease Study 2013. Lancet. 2015;386(10010):2287-323, which is the capstone publication that reports on all risks included in GBD.¹² The source data for these risk factors were obtained by systematic review and analysis of survey data with available microdata, and have been analyzed using space-time Gaussian Process Regression methods.

A.2. Global Burden of Disease reduced GFR categories estimation strategy

To determine consistent estimates of CKD prevalence by category for 188 countries by age-groups and sex for specific time-points, a compartment model is used:

Appendix Figure 1. CKD Category 5 Compartment Model

The DisMod-MR tool is a Bayesian mixed effects metaregression tool that determines estimates assuming a lognormal distribution. This tool generates weighted pooled estimates using information from associations with known variables. The tool allows for inclusion of data with differing disease or diagnostic definitions through use of crosswalks. Fixed effects incorporated into DisMod models included sex, study-level covariates (i.e. variations in case definition or study methods), as well as predictive country-level covariates. Nested random effects were included for the different geographic levels of super-region, region, and country.

This estimation strategy employs a cascading geographic hierarchy in order to produce estimates. Beginning with the global fit involving all data, this fit then serves as the prior for seven super regions, whose estimates serve as the prior for the 21 regions, and so forth until the country-level. This method allows us to borrow strength across geographies and predict estimates for geographic areas with little or no data.

For analytical purposes the Global Burden of Disease Study defines seven super-regions and twenty-one world regions that reflect a combination of geographical proximity and epidemiological likeness. Supplemental Table 1 lists all regions within super-regions, and all countries within regions.

Expert priors used in DisMod-MR usually concern age restrictions or a setting of no remission for incurable diseases or no excess mortality for low back pain or tension-type headache, as examples. We did not apply any expert priors to the CKD models apart from “no remission” in the transplant model.

Single parameter prevalence models were developed for CKD categories 3 and 4. A full compartment model was developed for CKD category 5. Country-level data used to inform the CKD model are summarized in Supplemental Tables 4 and 5. Study-level covariates used to crosswalk prevalence data included covariates to adjust CKD prevalence data extracted from literature that combined CKD categories in order to allow for category-specific estimates: (covariate – “CKD categories 3,4”, covariate – “CKD categories 3, 4, 5”). Country-level covariates for non-fatal CKD models by CKD category are listed below:

Non-fatal model country-level covariates
CKD category 3	Natural log of age-standardized death rate on prevalence
CKD category 4	Natural log of age-standardized prevalence of CKD stage 3

Appendix methods to Thomas, B. Global cardiovascular and renal outcomes from reduced glomerular filtration rate.

	from CKD stage 3 model
CKD category 5	Natural log of age-standardized prevalence of CKD stage 4 from CKD stage 4 model
Fatal model country-level covariates
CKD category 3	“animal fat,” “diabetes,” “education,” “health system access,” “LDI,” “mean BMI,” “mean cholesterol,” “mean systolic blood pressure,” “red meat,” “total kcal,” “whole grains,” and “SDI.”
CKD category 4
CKD category 5

Age standardization was performed across regions and time based on standard weights obtained from the Global Burden of Disease world population age standard.¹ An age-standardized rate is a weighted average of the age-specific rates, where the weights are the proportions of a standard population in the corresponding age groups. The potential confounding of age is removed when comparing age-standardized rates between countries and over time computed using the same standard population.

Chronic Kidney Disease (CKD)

Fatal CKD modeling strategy

Country-level vital registration data were standardized (Supplemental Table 6), and mapped according to the GBD COD ICD mapping method.¹ These data were then age-sex split, and appropriate redistribution of data was performed using garbage coding.¹ After applying noise reduction, these data were then uploaded to the COD database.

Country covariates included in the models are listed in the above table. Iterations of models were assessed at the location/year/age-group/sex level to determine whether data points merited exclusion via outliering.

A.3 Population-attributable fraction calculation

Study overview

This analysis follows the risk assessment framework used in the Global Burden of Disease (GBD) Study 2013 for 79 individual and combined risk factors, where prevalence of the exposure is determined, a theoretical minimum risk is defined, and the relative risk of causally related health outcomes is quantified.²⁻⁴

Exposure estimates

To estimate the prevalence of reduced GFR, population-representative survey data as well as data from population-representative literature (44 countries, 1,016 data points; Supplemental Table 4) were analyzed with a Bayesian meta-regression tool, DisMod-MR 2.0^{5,6} as described in A.2.

Relative risk determination

Outcomes of ischemic heart disease (IHD), stroke, and peripheral vascular disease (PVD) were selected based on literature describing an elevated risk with reduced renal function.⁷⁻¹⁶ Relative risks of cardiovascular outcomes of IHD and stroke per GFR exposure category were derived from cohort data included in the Chronic Kidney Disease Prognosis Consortium (14 cohorts, n = 135,484) with estimated kidney function based on serum creatinine and prospective assessment of fatal and nonfatal cardiovascular events (Supplemental Table 2).¹⁷ Participants in the included cohorts were individuals at baseline without a history of CVD and available information on demographic and epidemiological variables of age, gender, estimated glomerular filtration rate, diabetes mellitus status (yes/no), smoking status (yes/no), systolic blood pressure, total cholesterol, and HDL cholesterol.

Appendix methods to Thomas, B. Global cardiovascular and renal outcomes from reduced glomerular filtration rate.

A two-stage pooled meta-analysis was used to calculate relative risks. The relative risk of ischemic heart disease and stroke was first determined within each cohort, and then a pooled analysis of cohort-level relative risks was performed using a random effects modeling approach (Supplemental Table 2). As systolic blood pressure is also hypothesized to be in the causal pathway of reduced kidney function and CVD, a sensitivity analysis was performed excluding this variable from the adjustment. As the relative risks did not significantly change, systolic blood pressure was maintained as an adjustment variable (Supplemental Table 2). We performed separate meta-analyses for fatal and non-fatal outcomes. As the resulting relative risks were very similar, and splitting outcomes by fatal versus non-fatal resulted in very small event numbers (especially at advanced-stage CKD), we chose to combine fatal and nonfatal outcomes in order to increase the power of the analysis. The relative risk for peripheral vascular disease by stage of reduced renal function was determined from the Atherosclerotic Risk in the Communities (ARIC) cohort (Supplemental Table 2).¹⁸

Cohort and subject inclusion

Cohort selection and inclusion into the Chronic Kidney Disease Prognosis Consortium (CKD-PC) has been described in extensive detail.¹⁷ Cohorts included in this analysis were chosen among those within the CKD-PC cohorts that met requirements of measured GFR, baseline adjudication for CV outcomes of interest, and follow-up for events. Fourteen cohorts were included in the analysis, spanning 7 countries.⁷⁻¹⁶ Average length of follow-up among the cohorts was 6.7 years. Subjects included in analysis had measured renal function, cardiovascular event adjudication, and risk factor variables of age, gender, total cholesterol, high-density lipoprotein, diabetes mellitus status (yes/no), smoking history (yes/no), and systolic blood pressure (SBP) in order to isolate the risk attributable to reduced renal function.

Definitions

Ischemic heart disease (IHD) for the purposes of the relative risk analysis was defined as myocardial infarction, fatal coronary heart disease, and coronary revascularization. Stroke included both ischemic and hemorrhagic cerebrovascular accidents, and excluded subarachnoid hemorrhage. Peripheral vascular disease (PVD) was defined using the following ICD-9 and ICD-10 codes: 440.21 440.23 443.9 38.18 39.25 39.29 39.50 84.1x, 707.1x, 785.4, I73.8, I73.9.

Relative Risk Calculation

Relative risk calculation was performed at the cohort level by stage of renal impairment among all subjects, as well as by age groups (<60 years, 60-70 years, 70-80 years, >80) (Supplemental Table 2). Relative risks for PVD were determined using the Atherosclerotic Risk in Communities cohort (Supplemental Table 2).

Theoretical minimum risk exposure level (TMREL)

Appendix methods to Thomas, B. Global cardiovascular and renal outcomes from reduced glomerular filtration rate.

In the GBD methodology for quantifying risk factors' contributions to overall disease burden, estimates are made in comparison to a counterfactual level of exposure that is associated with the least health risk. For GFR we defined the counterfactual population as one in which all individuals have GFR values ≥ 60 ml/min/1.73m². Thus we estimated the amount of health loss in each country that would not have occurred if every individual had had a GFR ≥ 60 ml/min/1.73m². This threshold is the GFR-based definition for CKD and is indicated in the literature to mark when CVD development accelerates.⁷⁻¹⁶

Population-attributable fractions (PAF)

We calculated the cardiovascular fatal and nonfatal burden attributable to the categorical exposure of low GFR categories using the following equation:

$$PAF = \frac{\sum_{i=1}^n P_i(RR_i - 1)}{\sum_{i=1}^n P_i(RR_i - 1) + 1}$$

Equation 1. PAF based on categorical exposure where RR_i is the relative risk for exposure level i , P_i is the proportion of the population in that exposure category, and n is the number of exposure categories.¹⁹

A.4 Disability-adjusted life-years (DALYs) estimation

In the GBD study, health loss from mortality and disability is aggregated in a composite measure of population health, the disability-adjusted life year (DALY), the addition of years of life lost (YLLs) and years lived with disability (YLDs).²⁰ YLLs are the product of the number of deaths in a population by the remaining standard life expectancy at the age of each death.¹ YLDs are the product of prevalent cases in the population living with a disabling outcome of a disease or injury by a disability weight that quantifies the severity of a health state as a fraction of health loss compared to full health.⁶ One DALY for a disease represents one year of healthy life lost.²¹ Mortality rates and causes of death are determined at the country-age-sex-year level through rigorous identification of all available data sources and quality vetting and adjustment for data source bias.²⁰ Estimation of YLDs for CKD and CVD follows a similar framework of identification of all literature and data sources describing disease incidence and prevalence for each country-age-sex-year of analysis, and use of the Bayesian meta-regression model (DisMod-MR 2.0) to estimate missing country-age-sex-year data points.

DALY calculations and disability weights for categories of CKD and cardiovascular 'outcomes have been described in a separate publication.⁶

A.5 Calculation of uncertainty

All calculations performed in GBD 2013 are repeated 1,000 times; these iterations are known as "draws." Each draw takes a value from data distributions that reflect sampling and non-sampling error of data inputs, as well as model uncertainty. All resulting estimates are presented with 95% uncertainty intervals (UIs) that are defined by the 25th and 975th values of the 1,000 draws.

Supplemental Table 3. Guidelines for Accurate and Transparent Health Estimates Reporting (GATHER) 18-items checklist with description of compliance and location of information

#	GATHER checklist item	Description of compliance	Reference
Objectives and funding
1	Define the indicators, populations, and time periods for which estimates were made.	Narrative provided in paper and appendix describing indicators, definitions, and populations.	Appendix methods; and supplemental table 1
2	List the funding sources for the work.	Funding sources listed in paper.	Main text and acknowledgements
Data Inputs
For all data inputs from multiple sources that are synthesized as part of the study:
3	Describe how the data were identified and how the data were accessed.	Narrative description of data seeking methodology provided.	Methods in main text – sections on exposure and outcomes Appendix methods – A.1. Data Sources; A.3. Cohort and subject inclusion
4	Specify the inclusion and exclusion criteria. Identify all ad-hoc exclusions.	Narrative about inclusion and exclusion criteria by data type provided.	Appendix methods – A.1. Data Sources; A.3. Cohort and subject inclusion
5	Provide information on all included data sources and their main characteristics. For each data source used, report reference information or contact name/institution, population represented, data collection method, year(s) of data collection, sex and age range, diagnostic criteria or measurement method, and sample size, as relevant.	Interactive, online data source tool that provides metadata for data sources by component, geography and cause, has been developed.	Online data tool: http://vizhub.healthdata.org/epi/ Also Supplemental tables 4, 5, and 6
6	Identify and describe any categories of input data that have potentially important biases (e.g., based on characteristics listed in item 5).	1) Garbage redistribution methods for fatal estimates 2) Study-level covariates for non-fatal estimates 3) Summary of estimation strategy for geographic regions with limited country-level data provided in Appendix Methods	Appendix Methods – A.2. GFR categories estimation strategy Appendix Methods – A.2. Flowcharts illustrating estimation strategy for fatal and non-fatal CKD categories estimates
For data inputs that contribute to the analysis but were not synthesized as part of the study:
7	Describe and give sources for any other data inputs.	Data sources informing covariates	General methods and appendices of GBD 2013 capstone papers. Publications online, and referenced used in cause of death analysis	in Appendix bibliography.

For all data inputs:

8	Provide all data inputs in a file format from which data can be efficiently extracted (e.g., a spreadsheet as opposed to a PDF), including all relevant meta-data listed in item 5. For any data inputs that cannot be shared due to ethical or legal reasons, such as third-party ownership, provide a contact name or the name of the institution that retains the right to the data.	Downloads of input data are available through online tools, including data visualization tools and data query tools. Input data not available in tools can be made available upon request except for those that are provided to IHME under a data user agreement that prohibits sharing.	Online data tool: http://vizhub.healthdata.org/epi/

Data analysis

9	Provide a conceptual overview of the data analysis method. A diagram may be helpful.	Detailed Appendix Methods has been provided.	Methods section main text; Appendix Methods – A.2.
10	Provide a detailed description of all steps of the analysis, including mathematical formulae. This description should cover, as relevant, data cleaning, data pre-processing, data adjustments and weighting of data sources, and mathematical or statistical model(s).	Detailed Appendix Methods has been provided.	Appendix, A.2 GBD reduced GFR estimation strategy; A.3 Population-attributable fraction calculation; A.4 DALYs estimation; A.5 Estimation of uncertainty
11	Describe how candidate models were evaluated and how the final model(s) were selected.	Provided in the methodological write- ups.	Described in Appendix Methods A.2. GBD reduced GFR estimation strategy
12	Provide the results of an evaluation of model performance, if done, as well as the results of any relevant sensitivity analysis.	Provided in the methodological write- ups.	Described in Appendix Methods A.2. GBD reduced GFR estimation strategy
13	Describe methods for calculating uncertainty of the estimates. State which sources of uncertainty were, and were not, accounted for in the uncertainty analysis.	Provided in the methodological write- ups.	Appendix, Section 3. Risk-specific estimation
14	State how analytic or statistical source code used to generate estimates can be accessed.	Access statement provided.	Available online at http://ghdx.healthdata.org/global-burden-disease-study-2015

Results and Discussion

15	Provide published estimates in a file format from which data can be efficiently extracted.	GBD 2015 results are available through online data visualization tools,	http://www.healthdata.org/results/datavisualizations ; http://ghdx.healthdata.org/ ; http://ghdx.healthdata.org/gbd-data-tool

		the Global Health Data Exchange, and the online data query tool
16	Report a quantitative measure of the uncertainty of the estimates (e.g. uncertainty intervals).	Uncertainty intervals are provided with all results.	Tables 1-3, Main manuscript results
17	Interpret results in light of existing evidence. If updating a previous set of estimates, describe the reasons for changes in estimates.	Discussion of how our results relate to existing literature on this topic.	Main text, Discussion.
18	Discuss limitations of the estimates. Include a discussion of any modeling assumptions or data limitations that affect interpretation of the estimates.	Discussion of limitations provided in the narrative of the main paper as well as in the methodological write-ups in the appendix.	Main text, Discussion: Limitations paragraph.
