

Supplemental Digital Content 1 Problems from standard wound care. (a) The secondary dressing was gauze and Micropore™ (3M™, USA) which caused irritant contact dermatitis and allowed feces to contaminate the wound bed. (b) The primary dressing was wet-to-dry gauze, which resulted in mild skin maceration at the border of the wound and significant pain during dressing change.

